THE DAILY LETTER.

A New View of the Dudley Letter.

By Mr. J. H. P. Smith.

Some Democrats Believe It Was a Staggering Blow.

Deaths Expressed in the Governor's Letter to the Senate.

Announcements of an Interesting Debate on the Dudley Letter.

The Case Against Dudley.

INDIANAPOLIS, December 24.—Ex-Senator McDonald and Congressman Bynum expressed the belief that the government will have difficulty in making a case against Dudley. Smory 3. Sellers, J. S. district attorney, whose resignation has not yet been accepted, was in the city a few hours today. He says he occupies a rather strange position. The president has not accepted his resignation, neither has he been officially notified that he refuses to accept it, and unless he assumes that Bailey's nomination creates a vacancy, why he is still district attorney of Indiana.

Judge C. S. Suite of Frankfort, Ind., a close friend of Sellers and who is familiar with the inside history of Indiana politics, is out in an interview giving a new reason for Sellers' resignation, which he says he has from Sellers direct. Judge Suite says Mr. Sellers' resignation was not given to the Dudley letter and said he was satisfied the letter was written by Dudley; that the letter was written with a view of having it reach as many democrats as possible; that no better medium of circulation among the democrats could be obtained than the letter; that on the other hand, the letter was written and sent out with a view of having it reach as many democrats as possible; that no better medium of circulation among the democrats could be obtained than the letter; that on the other hand, the letter was written and sent out with a view of having it reach as many democrats as possible.

Chicago Anarchists.

CHICAGO, December 24.—Corporation Counsel Green and Assistant Knight furnished today the city's reply to the letter of the anarchists in support of an injunction restraining the city from interfering with their meetings. The reply asserts that the Arbeiter Bund, the society pressing the injunction suit, was organized for unlawful purposes, and that it agitated principally the destruction of existing forms of society. It further relates that the Arbeiter Bund held a meeting in New York on the evening of December 9. This meeting took place in the city of New York, and was held in the city of New York, and was held in the city of New York.

The Haytian Republic Surrendered.

WASHINGTON, December 24.—Secretary Whitney today received a cable message from Rear Admiral Lane, in command of the United States steamer Guiana, at Kingston, Jamaica, saying the American steamer Layton Republic, recently seized at Port-au-Prince by Haytian authorities, has been surrendered to him upon demand.

The Strike at Denver.

DENVER, December 24.—The switchmen's strike at the Union Pacific yards so far as the company is concerned appears to be near an end. To-day Superintendent Choate notified the strikers that he would give them until 1 o'clock this afternoon to return to work, and if they did not do so, that four he would begin hiring other men. Five crews returned and others will go to work tomorrow. The company are now working about half their force, and while several trains have been made up they experienced considerable difficulty in getting them out on time on account of interference of some of the strikers. The Omaha express, which left here at 10 o'clock to-night, had a number of deputy sheriffs aboard, who prevented any trouble occurring in the city. The express left at 10 o'clock to-night, and was bound for Burlington, crossing two miles from the city, where it was encountered by some men supposed to be strikers and delayed an hour and a half.

Parliament Protruded.

London, December 24.—Parliament was prorogued to-day. The queen's speech was as follows: "I have great satisfaction in being able to release you from your protracted labors. My relations with a foreign powers continue friendly. I regret that the convention concluded between myself and the president of the United States have arisen with reference to the American waters have not commenced in accordance with the judgment of the United States Senate, in which, according to the constitution of the United States, the power of ratification is vested. Temporary arrangements with a view to prevent inconvenience arising from the suspension of the convention have been made. The restoration of Egypt to a condition of political and financial security has been for a time interrupted by an attempt of the Sultan to dispossess himself of the Egyptian throne. Disposition of the Egyptian throne has been supported by the British contingent. In support of the administration and economic progress of Egypt are satisfactory. Insurrection has broken out in the province of the Sudan, which has brought with it considerable destruction of life and property. In the German settlements on the coast of the Gulf of Guinea, renewed vigor of the slave trade, which has been shown by the British contingent, has been shown by the British contingent. Restoration of Rates.

CHICAGO, December 24.—Passenger rates to the westward, which have been cut for several weeks, were advanced to the regular rate this morning. January 1, 1889, passenger fares to Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Leavenworth will be advanced to $2.50 first class. Rates from Chicago to points between and beyond the above-named territories on the same day will be advanced to rates as shown in the Chicago rate sheet in December, 1888.

The Pope and His Enemies.

ROME, December 24.—The pope addressed the Sacred College today, giving thanks to God for the passing of the year. He had brought his former utterances on the question of temporal power and the question of the restoration of the papacy, and he urged Catholics everywhere to agitate in a legal manner for the restoration of papal supremacy, and spoke in denunciation of the recent liberal enactments in Italy. His address throughout was unusual, vigorous and bitter.

The speech referred exclusively to the Vatican and Italy. He did not touch upon the whole world, as was expected. The pope's situation was placed. He said that the world was now in a state of anarchy, and that the only way to restore order was by the restoration of the papacy. He said that the world was now in a state of anarchy, and that the only way to restore order was by the restoration of the papacy. He said that the world was now in a state of anarchy, and that the only way to restore order was by the restoration of the papacy.

A Town Destroyed.

YEROMINEE, Mich., December 23.—News has reached here of the total destruction by fire of the town of Yerominee, 47 miles north of here, on the Chicago and Northwestern and Detroit and Mackinac Island roads. No particulars have been received. Yerominee is a lumber town, and is very cold here now. The great suffering among the people.

Emm Pasha's Return.

BERLIN, December 23.—The committee of the Emn Pasha association give more credence to the report of arrival of the Emn Pasha's story of Emn Pasha's capture, but they have decided to continue preparations for sending out the Wisemann expedition for Emn Pasha's release. The news is verified. The expedition will now be sent out. The news is verified. The expedition will now be sent out.

A Night Episode.

New York, Dec. 23.—A man, named John, with an easy manner and a long coat, was seen in the city of New York, living by his wits, as a night episode.

A Steamship Burned.

YEROMINEE, Mich., December 23.—The steamer K. Adams burned this morning near Commerce, Miss., for miles south of the city. She was on route to Memphis and had about 200 people aboard. The fire, which caught in some cotton near the forward end of the boiler, was discovered about 8 o'clock. The passengers were at breakfast, and when the alarm was given they made a rush for the forward deck. At that time the steamer was about 800 yards from the Mississippi side of the river and her bow was at once headed for the shore. The fire, which was very fierce, was not until she was safely landed. Barry Post, second clerk, who was seated at the table when the alarm was given, and brought the ladies and children forward and assisted them ashore. Captain Mark R. Chief, who was on the deck, remained there, giving his commands until the steamer was safely lowered. The fire by this time spread through the cabin and he was compelled to retreat to the rear and climbed over the rails and descended to the cabin. Here he found Chief Clerk Gander, who had made an effort to save the money and papers of the steamer, which were in the safe. He saw the money, but nearly lost it in the burning cabin. He was rescued by Captain Gander, who was assisted by several others in securing the money, and when it was no longer possible for him to remain without being burned, he jumped into the river and swam ashore. There were about twenty colored cabin passengers who were saved along with the white passengers. On the lower deck, however, the fire had spread, and the crew and passengers were in a state of panic. The fire was so intense that the crew and passengers were in a state of panic. The fire was so intense that the crew and passengers were in a state of panic.

Explosion in a Saw Mill.

ROCKWELL, December 24.—A terrible explosion occurred at Hastings saw mill, four miles from Goldfield, on Saturday last, resulting in the instant death of four men and the maiming of another. The explosion was caused by a boiler bursting, and the steam and sawdust were blown into the air. The explosion was so intense that the crew and passengers were in a state of panic. The explosion was so intense that the crew and passengers were in a state of panic.

Immigration Arrangements.

WASHINGTON, December 24.—Quarters have been engaged at the Arlington hotel for General Harrison and party to witness the inauguration ceremonies next March. There will be in the party General Harrison and wife, Russell Harrison and wife, J. C. McKee, wife and two children, ex-Senator Sumner, Mrs. Russell, and wife, and the parents of the Secretary of the Interior, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Richardson. On the morning of the inauguration they will go to Washington by the Pennsylvania avenue and occupy a room on the second floor, where they will view the procession as it forms in accordance with present precedent, escorted by Andrew Jackson and observed by every president. Cleveland will accompany them to the capital.

A Dynamite Magazine Explodes.

WHEELING, W. Va., December 23.—A dynamite magazine exploded this morning at 7 o'clock, causing the destruction of the magazine and the death of two men. The explosion was so intense that the crew and passengers were in a state of panic. The explosion was so intense that the crew and passengers were in a state of panic.

B. W. STEELE,
Manager of the GAZETTE.

A. O. STEELE,
New Year's edition should be sent in at once.

The GAZETTE is a more complete, criminal lawyer whose clients frequently go to the poor house, so to speak, and are never to be seen again.

Large Syma is to be congratulated on having obtained a favorable report on the case of the Union Pacific from the committee. Now it will only secure its passage in the house and the everlasting gratitude of the people of this town.

President Adams of the Union Pacific, in his speech of last week, says the greatest evil of the Union Pacific is the time it takes to get a train from one end to the other. He says it takes a week to get a train from one end to the other.

With the struggle still raging in the east we in Colorado Springs are enjoying summer weather. It is winter here now, but the struggle is still going on.

way it is not for the fact that it is in case of a strike with the large working class who are striving, in common with the non-striking class, to obtain certain social equality. But these working men do not care, these men are socialists.

One may well ask, then, why it is that the socialists of the world are without merit in the eyes of the world. The answer is not far to seek.

Norway has neither great capital, nor large numbers of workers, nor a noisy labor movement, consequently, it enjoys a political equality, freedom of speech, press and meeting, and is a model of a socialist state.

By the larger portion of our population on the farm, and in the cities, the conditions of the world are such that there is no need for organization and effort for those who are in the world.

Then, too, it is not in the mind of the people that education has attained a high state in this country and that the Norwegian in this country is a model of a socialist state.

Our commerce too, is in a precarious position because the larger part of our commerce is in the hands of a few men, and the rest of the world is in the hands of a few men.

TRINITY SERVICE.

Christmas Services at the Presbyterian Church.

A Small Attendance on Account of the Bad Weather.

President S. C. Wood presided at 3:30
p. m.

A very small audience was present at the union services at the Presbyterian church Christmas morning owing to the disagreeable weather. Rev. Mr. S. C. Wood presided, and very excellent music was furnished by the choir, consisting of Mrs. C. M. Mays, soprano; Mrs. R. A. Taylor, contralto; Wm. Francis, tenor; Robert Smith, bass. Professor Seymour presided at the organ.

The collection for the benefit of the free reading room and library amounted to $2.85.

President Wm. P. S. Wood, of Colorado college, preached a sermon that was worthy of a much larger audience.

He took for his text the passage in Luke 1: "Unto you is born a Saviour."

Mr. S. Wood said that either we must look upon the event associated with this passage as a local, historical occurrence, which we were to study just as we would examine any other fact in history, trying to see how it occurred, an accident of the times in which it occurred, and then simply drawing our lessons from its results upon the life of that age, or we may think of these shepherds with their flocks and their fears, their wisdom and their ignorance, their limitations and their aspirations, their sins and their longings for reconciliation, as representing humanity. With this latter view we feel that the message of Christmas belongs to every age.

We accept this latter conception because we think of Christianity as a universal religion, and we believe that it belongs to every condition and that it is ever fresh and comes as a living, spiritual force for the present and future of every century.

So we think of the great fact of the incarnation as something that belongs to this age and is ever bringing its divine influence to bear on the affairs of human life.

This message of Christmas morning, "Unto you is born a Saviour," has had a living relation to the history of the nations. As we study the history of the world we find that certain great ethical ideas and moral forces seem to have been at work modifying the relations which nations bear to one another. There is such a thing now as community of nations. International law is the outcome of the idea of the brotherhood of men, and we can see in a line of changes that have come into human history that Christianity has quietly and effectively been doing its work. And so may we not say, as we watch this development and see the ever-present influence of the Christ in it, that the Saviour has been coming and is still coming to the nations: "Unto them is born a Saviour."

We see also the force of this truth that a Saviour has come to the world as we study the affairs of our own nation. We are learning that the prisoner is to be saved from his criminality, and so our prisons are being slowly changed to reformatories. We are studying the problems of poverty, so that the poor may be protected from the degradation of a life of poverty, and so we are seeing in our great educational movements that the training of character is the basis of a true education. More and more we are accepting the idea that to save our nation we must save our people from sin, from ignorance, from superstition. We believe that we are coming as a nation to feel that Christianity is the saving power.

Mr. S. Wood then spoke of how this was true of the new life in this great west, of how with a the eagerness there is for material things there are certain great, moral, religious and intellectual forces doing their work. Wherever there are these great forces at work which really are carrying our people from worldliness, there is the Christ.

Reference was then made to the central fact of Christianity, viz: that it is a personal appeal to the human consciousness. We believe in the human being as a great personal force full of humanity, full of divinity, which must be the characters of men, and wherever it is fashioning men and women into the image of God, there has come the Savior to individual lives.

Mr. S. Wood then spoke of how this happens often even through our sorrows; that disappointment can make people noble and bring a depth and earnestness to life that one gets in no other way, and so it has been true of some that the truth of the Advent has become real during the darkest year of sorrow.

Prosperity broadens out some people and gives them a false sense of responsibility. They treat their wealth as a trust, their enlarged opportunity as a blessing because they wield the large influence for Christ. If with your enlarged means there has come the feeling that you must do all the more for the kingdom of God then in an important sense Christ has come to you during the past year.

The sermon closed with an appeal to all to let the Christian idea be more to them, to let the new year make the truth of Christmas mean more than it ever has before by opening the heart more and more to the influences of the Christ.

About 5 o'clock on Tuesday morning a Denver and Rio Grande freight train collided with a Rock Island freight train some four miles below the city. The accident occurred on a straight piece of track, but the night was dark and it was snowing. The trains came together with considerable force and both engines were badly wrecked. The crews of both trains jumped and no one was hurt. A train on the line of the road were delayed for several hours. On Monday night the Rock Island and also had a severe smash up near Good and Kane, the eastern end of the division. The passenger trains of Conductors Woods and Saunders came together on account of the air giving out in the brakes. The west bound train was in line on a side track as the east bound train came in. The engineer on the east bound train was coming in at a good speed and supposed that when he wished to stop, but when he applied the air it did not work and the result was he got into the other train. Both crews jumped and none of them were hurt.

Work has been received in this city that Mr. P. S. Leonard had died at Austin, Texas. Mr. Leonard came to this city nearly three years ago and immediately engaged in the clothing business. His health has been very poor for the last year and he and Mrs. Leonard went to Mexico some weeks ago in hopes that the change might benefit him. They were probably returning home at the time of his death. Mr. Leonard was 37 years of age on Christmas day. What disposition will be made of the remains is not known, but it is probable they will be taken from Austin to his home at New Milford, Conn., for interment.
